

Lauren's story

An Easy Read case study

Lauren goes to a day activity centre
4 days a week.

She also goes to TAFE Gippsland.

She is learning:

- reading and numbers
- how to find a job.

She is also learning hospitality and cooking.

When you work in hospitality, you might:

- work at a restaurant or cafe
- make food.

Lauren lives with her parents but she wants to do more things for herself.

She wants to move into her own home.

She also wants to work in a café – this is something she really enjoys.

Lauren uses disability support services to find activities in her area.

She thinks the Disability Gateway is helpful for many different people.

She says it helps them find the different services they need.

You can even find information in different languages.

Lauren said,

“Parents and guardians would find this website useful. A doctor or other health professional might use it to find services for a patient.”

You can watch a video about Lauren’s experience on the Disability Gateway website.
