

Maya's story

An Easy Read case study

Maya is 22 years old. She uses a wheelchair.

Maya was born with a physical disability.

She has used disability support services all her life.

She chooses them herself.

Maya lives with her parents.

But she wants to move into her own home.

She used the Disability Gateway to find information on housing.

For example, Maya wants to know if she can change parts of a house to suit her needs.

Maya will finish university soon.

She wants to use the Disability Gateway to find information about:

- finding a job

- how she can get support at work.

She says the Disability Gateway website is accessible – easy for people with disability to use.

Maya also says the Disability Gateway has information about different services in one place.

It is useful for:

- people with disability
- family and friends
- health professionals.

Maya said,

“Having links to all these different services in one place makes it much easier.”

You can watch a video about Maya’s experience on the Disability Gateway website.
